Signals to the World

An exploration of environmental sentiment from coastal communities

We are delighted to welcome you on board for an exciting adventure. This is an opportunity for you to explore and express how you feel about climate change.

Included in the Flag Design Pack is information about the LAND- EcoArt project, the Flag Design Worksheet, the Signal Flag Example sheet and a Feedback Form.

What you will need:

- The Flag Design Worksheet No.4. Use this to explore your thoughts and develop and record your design.
- The Signal Flag Example sheet No.3 for reference, can be shared or viewed online to save paper.
- The Feedback Form No.5
- A pen/pencil and felt pens or coloured pencils for your design

Please print the sheets above, download them to use on a phone or tablet drawing App or email us to say you'd prefer hard copies and we'll post these out to you.

As flags are designed to be seen from afar and to be easily identified, so their design needs to be very simple, with meaningful symbols, with only 2-4 colours and have no text.

Using a small rectangle 1.5 w x 1h inch (7.5cm x 5cm) is perfect to plan your design.

How do you feel about climate change? Your opinion matters and is really important to us, so please share/return your completed Flag Worksheet No.4 to us. These should include your finished design and an explanation of its meaning. You can photograph the sheets and then email these to us, put them on our social media or post them to us. Upload coming soon. Thank you!

What will happen to my design?

Your design will join the growing archive collection that captures current feeling about climate change at this pivotal time in history.

Many designs are made into large fabric flags. These will fly over the coming years at venues and events including on Tall Ships and at COP27 Egypt. Large flags and their meanings appear on our website and be part of a book "Environmental Distress Signal Flags".

A flag designer is called a vexillographer. By taking part, you're taking action on climate change; that makes you are a vexillographic climate activist, congratulations.

If you'd like to turn your design into a small painted maquette flag or a large (150 x100cm h) fabric one, or like us to run a workshop for your group in person or online please be in touch with rose@ecoartcharity.org for assistance.
